There are two reasons to think about making your own dog and cat food; firstly cheap dog/cat food is full of fillers and additives and good quality dog/cat food is very expensive. The second reason is that being able to make your own high quality dog/cat food will be vital if the SHTF or dog/cat food is not available for whatever reason. These recipes are all made with quality organic ingredients; I guess they could be made with non-organic meats to cut down the costs, but this is up to you...

These recipes state they are for dogs, but having looked through the recipes, I can see no reason why most aren't also suitable for cats. If anyone knows differently, do let me know!
