This post is quite timely for me as I currently have an ear, nose and throat infection that just won't go away. Earache is a bit like toothache - it sounds like a minor inconvenience, but the pain from both can be excruciating...

If you suffer with earaches regularly or you have young children who seem especially prone, check out the post below from 'Common Sense Homesteading' which details 12 home remedies to help cure earache and reduce pain. Personally when at home I use one of those microwaveable wheat bags and place it on my ear, I find the heat soothes the pain. You could also try a hot water bottle.

12 Home Remedies For Earaches

(Photo from: Common Sense Homesteading)