Before people start complaining that being OCD is no joke etc, I know, I am OCD. I am the most obsessive and routine oriented person I know. Sometimes this trait can be incredibly useful in life, but most of the time being like this is just a pain in the ass!

Funnily enough though, although I am OCD about a lot of stuff, cleaning isn't one of the things that particularly bothers me (timekeeping and routines are another matter!) However if you are a clean freak, I highly recommend checking out the post below. It has a whole load of cleaning tips and tricks to help you get your home in order.

33 Cleaning Tips & Tricks For The OCD Person Inside You

(Image from: Buzzfeed)