Categories : DIY, General

I think it is pretty much a fact that if you have a backyard, you have some old garden hose laying around someplace... I know we do! (I hate garden hose BTW, it always kinks and gets caught on things, so annoying!)

I had never considered that garden hose could actually be useful for something other than the intended purpose, but like me, I think you'll be blown away by just how useful old garden hose can be in the garden and around the home. My favourite is cutting a section and using it as a saw blade protector. I have several saws without protectors, so I'll be get on this on the weekend. Check out the list of DIY uses for garden hose down below.
