DIY Easy Chicken Feeder

Categories: Homesteading, Self-Sufficiency

This is a great way to reuse old plastic food grade buckets to feed your chickens in. You can feed baby chicks out of flat troughs but, once they're six to eight weeks old, you'll need an automatic feeder for them.

If you were to buy a feeder, a cheaper one could set you back $30. Why spend that when you can make your own for around $5, it works just as well.

DIY Easy Chicken Feeder

(Picture Credit: backwoodshome.com)