

DIY Plant-Pot Maker From Old Newspaper (Highly recommended)

Categories : Growing your Own, Recommended Tools & Gear, Self-Sufficiency

I have had one of these for years and it is superb. Not only do you get free plant pots, they are also biodegradable and can be planted straight in the ground (in the pot) and the pot will break-down very quickly.

These paper pots are suitable for use with all fruit, vegetables and flowering plants. As they are planted in the ground in the pot, it makes them especially useful for plants which don't like root disturbance, such as beets and carrots, which allows you to start these off early indoors and get a head start on the growing season. There are no issues with the ink in newspaper and all newspapers are printed with a soy-based ink which is non-toxic.

I highly recommend you pick one up, it will last forever and save you a fortune.

Do-It-Yourself Plant PotMaker from Newspaper

currently $13.95 on Amazon