How To Bake Without An Oven

Categories: Cooking, General Prepping, Homesteading

What if I told you, you do not need a conventional oven to bake breads, cakes and cookies etc, nor roast your meats? Well you don't!

With a bit of practice and skill you can bake/roast pretty much anything in a Dutch oven, that you could in a conventional oven... This is great news for a number of reasons - firstly it frees you from the kitchen and allows you the freedom to bake/roast food outdoors, cooking outdoors is one of the simple pleasures in life. Secondly it allows you to bake/cook foods when power is off, which makes a Dutch oven and important purchase for emergency preparedness.

Check out this great post from 'Homestead Honey' all about cooking without an oven, and then if you don't already have one, go out and purchase a Dutch oven! Lots of people wrongly assume that Dutch ovens cost a fortune; this is not the case, you can get several Dutch ovens on Amazon for around $30, with all the Lodge cast iron Dutch ovens being made in the USA.

How To Bake Without An Oven

(Image from: Homestead Honey)