How To Find Direction Using Your Watch

Categories : Wilderness Survival

If you spend a lot of time outdoors, being able to navigate with a map and compass is a vital skill to master. GPS devices and mobile phones with GPS are a useful aid, but they should never be relied upon as batteries run out of power and signals fade...

If you find yourself in the middle of nowhere and you are without a compass, map or GPS, there is a reasonably accurate way of getting your bearing and find your direction using your wrist watch in conjunction with the sun. I could explain how this is done, but luckily Dan’s Depot have written an excellent short tutorial together with a video that shows you what you need to know.

How To Find Direction Using Your Watch

(Image from Dan’s Depot)