How To Make A Garden Plow From An Old Bicycle

Categories : DIY, Growing your Own

I can hear some of you already! Cool idea but way too lightweight for plowing a field of hard ground... And you'd be right! But this plow isn't for plowing large fields of hard stony ground, it's designed for plowing a homestead sized vegetable garden.

Something like this DIY bicycle plow would be awesome for a medium to large vegetable garden. Most people break up the soil with hand tools which is back breaking work. A simple plow made from an old bicycle would make the process much quicker and easier. For garden use, I actually see that fact it's lightweight as a big plus.

(Image from: stin987)