How To Make A Secret & Secure Safe For Less Than $3

Categories: DIY, General, General Prepping

I have kind of seen this idea before, but this video tutorial is great at showing just how simple this is to do, and how effective it is for keeping things hidden and safe. You could have several of these throughout your house.

Another method is to use a real (obviously not wired up) socket cover plate to hide the safe, rather than just using the blank plate. It would obviously cost a little more, but I think it would be way more secure. Also if you position your safe close to the ground, on the ground floor, you can do away with the blue box and fit loads more stuff in the safe - just reach inside the wall and placing the items on the floor between the partitions in the wall. Just make sure you can reach them to get them out! Anyway, plenty of food for thought...

(Image from: Grant Thompson - The King of Random)