How To Make A Tactical Pull-Pin Smoke Bomb

Categories : DIY, General Prepping, Self Defense, Urban Survival, Wilderness Survival

Smoke bombs can be used to confuse/disorientate an attacker, whether it be animal or human and they can be used to create cover for you to evade and make an escape. There are loads of tutorials showing how to make basic smoke bombs, but they all require you to manually ignite them which is cumbersome and slow. This is the first tutorial I have found that uses a pull-pin to enable you to quickly and easily set it off.

A interesting idea for preppers and people looking to defend and possibly escape from a location etc. I would only use these indoors in an emergency as I am not too sure what the fumes will be like... If you are going to test one, do it outdoors! Check it out below.

How To Make A Tactical Pull-Pin Smoke Bomb

Check out the: K.W.N Recommended Book List (all available on Amazon!)

(Photo from: lambman64 via Instructables)