How To Make Candied Jalapenos

In my book a burger is simply not a burger without candied jalapenos (actually the burger also needs lots of cheese and tomato too!). If you like things a little hot and spicy, I highly recommend growing some of your own chilli pepper plants this year. They can be grown in pots on the windowsill or in a greenhouse or outdoors in a sunny sheltered location. Treat them like tomatoes and you won't go too far wrong.

At the end of the summer when you have an abundance of chillies, grab the excellent recipe/tutorial from the link below and make a batch of homemade cowboy candy.

How To Make Candied Jalapenos

(Photo from: Old World Garden Farms)