How To Make Homemade Tortillas

If you have never made homemade tortillas, you are seriously missing out. It is similar to having never made or eaten home-baked bread! The difference being that whilst baking bread can be time consuming and messy, making tortillas couldn't be quicker or easier... Also as they are made from just flour, water, salt, baking soda and butter, and they are cooked in a skillet, tortillas are a great option for camping etc and emergency preparedness.

If I have whetted your appetite and convinced you that you should have a go at making some tortillas, head over to 'The Foodie Army Wife' via the link below and check out Constance's great recipe/tutorial.

How To Make Homemade Tortillas

(Photograph courtesy of The Foodie Army Wife)