How To Make Quick & Easy Freezer Jam

Categories : Cooking, Homesteading, Recipes, Self-Sufficiency

There are two main reasons you should be making jam; it's absolutely delicious and it's a great way to preserve fruit. There is one main reason why you probably don't make jam; it's a pain in the ass, time consuming process...

This jam couldn't be easier to make, you just need a freezer! There's no cooking involved, just a bit of manual mashing up the strawberries, adding some pectin and sugar, and then it's all about taking advantage of the natural process strawberries go through when they are frozen. You can make a large amount of jam in no time at all making it this way. Also I challenge you to taste the difference!
