How To Make Vertical Strawberry PVC Tube Planters

Categories : DIY, Growing your Own

We love strawberries, the problem is that due to us growing our own, the kids have never really appreciated them as something special or a treat. They just munch them down one after another and they can polish off a dozen strawberries in minutes...

Luckily we have space to grow our strawberries in the ground, but if your family gets through as many strawberries as we do, but you thought you didn't have the space to grow your own, think again! You can grow a huge amount of strawberries in no space whatsoever with these awesome vertical PVC tube planters. If you want to make some of these planters, head over to 'Urban Green Space' on the link below and check out their tutorial.
