How To Make Your Own Canning Equipment

Categories: Food & Water, General Prepping, Homesteading, Self-Sufficiency

I think lots of people are put off canning because they think you need a load of expensive equipment to get started. This is just not true... Sure, if you are going to be doing lots of canning on a regular basis, you'll probably want to invest in some canning equipment. However if you are only going to can infrequently, or if you're just starting out, you can easily make/adapt kitchen equipment you already have.

How To Make Your Own Canning Equipment

Books weigh something, but the knowledge they contain doesn't; once learnt you carry that knowledge with you, wherever you go and whatever you face... Check out the: K.W.N Recommended Book List

(Photo from: Wikipedia)