How To Make Your Own Homemade Mosquito Spray

Categories: General Prepping, Homesteading, Self-Sufficiency

Did you know that most commercial mosquito sprays have DEET in them? Did you know DEET is really bad for you?

Some people have reported that when applying DEET to their skin they got hives or had mild redness and irritation. These symptoms were usually mild and went away when the product is removed from the skin. In extreme cases it has been known that if people used very high concentrations of DEET on their skin over a long period of time (such as military personnel or game wardens) may have more severe skin reactions that include blistering, burning, and permanent scars of the skin. Other symptoms associated with long-term use of high amounts of DEET (over 50% concentration) include insomnia and mood changes. Well today, you can make your own and stop all that nastiness and make your own

Picture Credit: rainydayfoodstorage.blogspot.co.uk

How To Make Your Own Homemade Mosquito Spray