Finding it difficult to find strike anywhere matches these days? Some say strike anywhere matches have become illegal, I am not sure if that's the case (or why?) but one thing's for sure, it has become difficult to find them in most areas nowadays and if you do find them online they are very expensive. Problem is that strike anywhere matches are far superior to safety matches for emergency preparedness and camping/hiking etc, as they do not need the special strike strip to ignite.

If you want some strike anywhere matches for your bug-out-bag or for camping/outdoor use, it is really easy to make strike anywhere matches out of safety matches. It's easy to do and it only takes a few minutes to make a batch. There is also no issue with these matches self igniting in the box either!
