Making Butter In A Jar With Kids

Categories : Cooking, Homesteading

We have covered making butter from milk previously, but I saw this post on 'Homestead Honey' and the whole idea of making butter in a jar WITH the kids really resonated with me. So much so I thought I would feature the post here on K.W.N. I am a huge advocate of showing how and where REAL food comes from. It is so important that they don't grow up thinking food just comes from the store, end-of-story...

I highly recommend you check out this awesome butter making tutorial below. Why not make some butter in a jar with your kids this weekend? It's great fun and they'll be amazed when the milk turns into butter!
