Pet Considerations In Survival Situations

Categories : General Prepping, Wilderness Survival

Have you ever considered what would happen to, or what to do with your pet(s) in a survival situation?

One of the things often left out of survival books, TV shows and training programs is consideration for your pets when the SHTF in whatever way it does.

There are some HUGE pros and and equally HUGE negatives to taking your pet(s) with you. Thankfully Craig Caudill over at Dan's Depot has written a post on the pros and cons of having your pet with you in a survival situation. There is also a great accompanying video. What do you think - are there more pros or cons to taking your pets with you?

Pet Considerations In Survival Situations

(Image from Dan’s Depot)