If SHTF or you find your self in an emergency situation because of a storm etc, maybe you are prepared for an extended survival scenario away from civilization, but you have to get out of the city first (maybe). In a disaster situation that might not be so easy.

I stumbled upon a great article about urban survival, I am posting this because 90% of us live in an urban setting, its easy to say you know what to do but if you sit down and think about it, do you? Click the link below to see the original article

The 3 Things You Will Always Need In An Urban Survival Situation

Picture Credit: Watt_Dabney