When It's Cold Outside, Who Wants To Be Here By The Fire?

A friend just emailed this and it is too good not to share. I would like to be there this evening, sipping a good quality Scottish single malt.... Not sure life gets much better than that.

I am not sure the original source of this photo, but my friend found it here.